Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 9-7-05 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 14,26 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

A ratio may not be expressed in percentage therefor 65% to 74% is improper.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102 and 103

4. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

5. Claims 14-18,24-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a or e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Oda et al (5,804,523), Tajima et al (5,885,916) and Hintermayer et al (5,998,319), each taken alone, for reasons of record.

Art Unit: 1755

The amounts set forth in new claims 26-28 falls within the ranges taught by the prior art references. Furthermore yttria is taught as a sintering aid in the references. The prior art references do not disclose the mass loss when the silicon nitride body is immersed in HCl. Products of identical chemical composition cannot have mutually exclusive properties. In re Spada, 15 USPQ2d 1655,1658 (Fed. Circ. 1990).

Applicants argue the prior art references fail to teach the claimed sintering aid ratio of 65 to75%. This is not persuasive because Oda et al teach a silica to rare earth ratio of up to 3.8. Tajima et al teach a ratio of up to 3.5. Hintemeyer et al teach a glass having greater than 65% silica.

As to the mass loss when the silicon nitride body is immersed in HCl applicants have not shown by way of tangible evidence that the prior art products do not possess the claimed property.

It is well settled that when a claimed composition appears to be substantially the same as a composition disclosed in the prior art, the burden is properly upon the applicant to prove by way of tangible evidence that the prior art composition does not necessarily possess characteristics attributed to the CLAIMED composition. In re Spada, 911 F.2d 705, 15 USPQ2d 1655 (Fed. Circ. 1990); In re Fitzgerald, 619 F.2d 67, 205 USPQ 594 (CCPA 1980); In re Swinehart, 439 F.2d 2109, 169 USPQ 226 (CCPA 1971).

The examples in the instant disclosure are not considered representative of the prior art references therefor the rejections are maintained.
